

Electoral Representation Review – Boroondara City Council - Response Submission
Tim Gillespie – Camberwell – 3 May 2019

Please may we keep Option C - being one councillor per ward. Over 30 years I have found having one councillor means I have one person to contact and one person is responsible for our welfare and our problems. I feel multiple representatives for an expanded ward will mean I have no one responsible for my concerns and will mean I have to contact 3 people to get anything done. Also if the three people do not agree on what needs to be done then nothing will happen to either fix my problems or move our Council area forward. It will degenerate along party lines not on the common good.

If we need to go to 11 Individual Councillors then so be it. The Multi representative model looks to me like a solution looking for a problem.

Regards

Tim Gillespie
